How we do projects at Å

We are truly a "cut the crap"-company. We inspire and enthuse people and help them realize their potential. We help people take 100% responsibility and to excel in their communication with others. This is why we try to keep formal structures at a minimum. This is why we see methodologies such as PRINCE2 as a casual toolbox and not as an end-all. And without further ado, here is how we practice project management, regardless of the size of the project.

Project Management, Å-style
   START PROJECT
      Supplier and the Customer agree on measurable Project Product(s) & resources needed
      People with 100% reponibilities are appointed [?] Documents
   PROJECT
      Project is delivered
         Work is assigned, executed and approved
      [? issues arise] Parties agree on issue handling or to stop the project
   CLOSE PROJECT
      Benefits Review
      [?] Project report; CONTAINS:
         Project Product(s)
         Project Benefits
         Lessons Learned
         Recommended actions after Project
